

Bow Station Talk

NOTE: This can be done at Masonic organizations when they ask the girls to come and perform a short ceremony. One girl holds our Bible on the board with hooks for the colors. Her back is to the West. The bow stations form a bow with their back to the East. One girl carries each color as the words are spoken and attaches it under the Bible. The girl carrying the colors then speaks the final line.

The Station of Love has the color red and is a symbol of love and devotion.

The Station of Religion has the color orange and is a symbol of the heroic of religion.

The Station of Nature has the color yellow and is a symbol of the beauty of God's great out of doors.

The Station of Immortality has the color green and is a symbol of immortality and eternal life.

The Station of Fidelity has the color blue and is a symbol of loyalty and trueness.

The Station of Patriotism has the color indigo and is a symbol of patriotism and courage.

The Station of Service has the color violet and is a symbol of service and self-sacrifice.

These color stations represent harmony and beauty and are symbolized in our Assembly by the Holy Bible.
